SUMMARY

While continued my education at Yıldız Technical University. I voluntarily served as an intern in an automaker's export division in 2020. In the meantime, I came to the conclusion that this job does not fulfill my soul. I started enrolling in Web design courses thanks to the encouragement and assistance of my circle of friends. I decided to pursue a career in this field because I believed that this was what I was looking for. I was qualified to take part and successfully graduated the non-profit organization' named Re:Coded's UI/UX Design Bootcamp in 2023. I am learning to look at web design from different perspectives, and I am taking solid steps forward to have a career in this field.

PROJECTS

FlickPick

📅 06/2023 - 07/2023 📍 Remote

FlickPick is an interactive mobile app that leverages NLP-driven chatbot technology to provide personalized film and TV show recommendations. This project enhances the entertainment experience by tailoring suggestions based on users' interests and preferences.

- Throughout this team project, I embraced a user-centered design philosophy, honing my ability to empathize with users, understand their needs, and translate those insights into intuitive and visually pleasing designs.
- My emphasis on creating an attractive and user-friendly interface in FlickPick, refined my skills in UI aesthetics, layout design, and interactive elements. This proficiency extends beyond this project and has influenced how I approach design challenges in diverse contexts.
